

The Palace inaugurates Tabloid Restaurant - 6th November 2008

The Palace recently inaugurated its flagship restaurant The Tabloid. Situated in High Street, Sliema the restaurant offers a refreshing combination of contemporary interiors and traditional quality service.

Stepping into The Tabloid restaurant one instantly appreciates the very original contemporary décor and the spacious layout accommodating up to 150 seated diners, apart from the al fresco tables on the sun-drenched terrace. With its contrasting hues of subdued greys and crisp, cool lime green details in the morning, which transform into warm red tones in the evening, The Tabloid offers a fresh alternative to the traditional concept of restaurant décor.

Open daily for dinners and Sunday lunches, The Tabloid's Mediterranean menu matches the décor in its direct approach to quality service and fine dining. Offering table d'hôtes, The Tabloid includes a delectable choice of innovative starters featuring dishes like peppered swordfish carpaccio or quail confit and leek tortelloni. Its main courses include mouth-watering dishes such as pan seared duck breast and beef fillet with hazelnut crumble truffle mash.

The Tabloid's Sunday lunch buffet caters for the most discerning gourmets. Complimented by an extensive wine list, the lavish spread starts with a varied selection of antipasti that feature sushi, shellfish, meat platters and fresh salads, moving on to soups and home-made pasta. This is followed by a choice of 2 carveries and 4 main courses along with a number of vegetable dishes. For those with a sweet -tooth, the dessert selection will definitely tease ones taste buds with the array of mouth-watering mousses, cheesecakes, sorbets, ice-cream and the delicious home baked white chocolate cheese cake and assortment of fresh fruit . Cheese lovers are not overlooked and find an abundance of fine cheeses.

Given its versatile décor and appetising menu, The Tabloid restaurant is the ideal venue; be it a business dinner, a romantic tete a tete or family affair, or a trendy alternative for anyone seeking an enjoyable night out.
